

Look at the pictures and write their names.

The children were learning about families. Their teacher, Mrs Anjali, smiled and said, "I want you to tell me a funny story about your grandfather. Vijay, you go first."

Vijay stood up and scratched his head.

"I don't know any stories," said Vijay.

"Why don't you try, Vijay?" asked Mrs Anjali.

"Can Geetha and Nikhil help me?" asked Vijay.

"Sure!" said Mrs Anjali.

Vijay, Geetha and Nikhil sat together. They whispered and giggled too.

After a few minutes, they were ready. "My grandfather is old," announced Vijay. "One day he was on a bus with two friends. None of them could hear too well. Geetha and Nikhil will be the friends. I will be my grandfather." The children giggled some more. Then they began.

VIJAY The bus windows are open. I'm getting lots of air.
 GEETHA Did you not shave today?
 NIKHIL You are lucky to have hair. I'm bald.
 VIJAY Bored, did you say? Shall we have coffee at the next stop?
 NIKHIL I don't want to get off and shop!
 GEETHA I'm sorry, but we are all too old to hop.
 VIJAY My hair is blowing in the wind. This bus is too windy!
 GEETHA No, no, it's not Wednesday. I am sure it is Thursday.
 VIJAY You are thirsty too? Let's get off at the next stop.
 NIKHIL I told you, I don't want to shop!
 GEETHA No one asked you to hop.
 The children laughed and clapped. Mrs Anjali did too.
